SERIAL NUMBER IDENTIFICATION

Change – Effective January 1, 2003.

The NSS serial number consists of our model of the machine followed by a series of numbers. The last eight are the actual serial number that identifies the machine. This serial number allows NSS to track the purchase and the warranty of the product.

NSS will require THE LAST EIGHT DIGITS when inquiring about warranty and/or product information. Some models, such as the Marshall, Predator, Sidewinder and Manta will not use this format, and their sequence may contain letters before or after the numbers. It is necessary to supply NSS all numbers and letters when inquiring about warranty and/or product information.
